THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS

VOL. IX. THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS, WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1913. No. 8.

ATTENTION!

A short time ago a letter was sent to every graduate in reference to the organization of an association to aid the college in the advancement of athletics. Numerous responses have been received, but not a fair percentage and we are still short of that $500 needed. Our foot ball team this fall depends upon the alumni as the college funds cannot pay for a good coach and our help is necessary. Will you not show your interest and desire to aid in advancing college sports at Middlebury?

MIDD. 5, ROCHESTER 1.

At last it happened. The team has returned to its own and another victory is ours. May 19 was cold and the wind blew sixty per, but a few loyal supporters gathered on the field to see Middlebury defeat Rochester 5-1.

Middlebury nearly scored in the first on a base on balls, sacrifice hit, and Triggs's single, but Forsythe raised Haskins at the plate. Middlebury pulled off a pretty play in the last of the first, when Aylward caught Schoen off first and Loder and Jones ran him down between the bases. The second was uneventful except for the double play that retired Rochester. Jones caught Harding's fly and threw to Loder in time to get Yorkey off first. Middlebury's first run came in the third. Leonard made a hit, but was later retired to second. Loder's fly to center was muffed. Loder stole second. Haskins hit one to second and reached first on an error. Jones made a hit. Triggs sent one to center. Loder reached home. Haskins was out trying to steal home. Aylward ended the inning by striking out. Only sixteen men faced Aylward during the next five innings.

Middlebury again entered the run column in the sixth. Triggs reached first on Harding's error, Aylward hit one to short, who also made an error. Triggs and Aylward now worked the double steal. With two men on bases, Weafer laid a perfect hit in left field, scoring both of them. Robinson sacrificed Weafer. Williams retired on a ball to first. Palmer allowed one to get through him and before he recovered the ball "Don" Weafer had crossed the plate. Leonard made a hit, stole second and reached third on a passed ball, but Loder hit to Harding, who threw him out at first. The seventh was uneventful. The eighth added one run for Middlebury and gave Rochester its only tally. Rochester's started from a base on balls, was aided by hitting the next batter, was continued by a clever double steal and resulted from Triggs failing to pick up Hammele's hit in time to get Forsyth at the plate.

Middlebury started when Robinson reached first on Schoen's attempt to play solitaire at first. Williams hit to the pitcher and was thrown out at first, placing Robinson on second. Leonard could only hit to the pitcher. Loder made a hit sending Robinson in. Loder was caught trying to steal second. Palmer, for Rochester, got on base in the ninth, but Harding hit to "Cassy" Jones, who ended the game.

Only two hits were secured off Aylward's delivery, one in the second by Harding and the other in the ninth by Palmer. His support was excellent. Leonard made his star catch in right field, one in the fifth on Hammele's

THE MAY DAY FESTIVAL WILL TAKE PLACE AT THE McCULLOUGH GYMNASIUM MAY 31, AT EIGHT O'CLOCK.

DR. APPELMANN.

The Verein, together with other German students, gave Dr. Appelmann a hearty welcome at the Hemicycle on Friday evening, May 16. The meeting was opened by a selection from "Tannhauser", given by the Verein, and followed by another, this time a solo by Pollard, '13. Professor Skillings then introduced Dr. Appelmann and spoke of him as one already well known to us through his previous visit to Middlebury. Dr. Appelmann after acknowledging the introduction gave a very interesting talk on the War of Liberation, the centenary of which is to be celebrated this year. He spoke most praisingly of the work of the three dramatists, Ludwig, Hebel, and Wagner, who were born during the stormy year 1813, and whose works have been so valuable in their field. In closing, he dwelt on the friendliness of Germany for the United States and cited examples of this by mentioning the visit of Prince Henry to the United States, the presentation of the yacht to the Kaiser, and the erection of the statue to the "alter Fritz" in Washington. Another song from "Tannhauser" closed the meeting and the Verein adjourned to Professor Skillings's home to attend a small reception in honor of our visitor. Refreshments were served and a fine time enjoyed by all.

COLGATE 4, MIDD. 1.

Colgate defeated Middlebury in a well played game at Hamilton on May 14. Colgate could do nothing with Vail's delivery until the fifth.

Robinson was the first man up. Vail struck him out. Captain Kingston raised a fly to Robinson, making out number two. Then Jones missed Johnson's hard hit ball over second base, Brown, the Colgate pitcher did the dramatic stunt by securing a hit. Vail walked MacLaughlin. With three on bases and two out, McCarty made a hit and two crossed the plate. Williams caught McCarty trying to steal second and all was over until the sixth.

Hammond was the first man up for Colgate. He sent a high fly in short left, over Triggs's head. Triggs made a hard run and the first man was out. Abell hit to Aylward, who made an error and the unfortunate started. Pern hit to Haskins in center field. Robinson came to bat. Two were out. Suddenly the ball was sailing in the direction of left field. Aylward was uncertain and delayed the return long enough to give Robinson a home run. Vail walked Kingston. A wild pitch allowed him to reach second. A passed ball gave him third. The Colgate rooters expected a dozen runs, but Johnson lifted a fly to MacLaughlin. who quieted the disturbance.

Our only score came in the eighth. With two out, Triggs made a hit. He followed this by stealing second. Aylward made another hit, sending Triggs in. Weafer hit to third, but was thrown out at first.

Jones' fly to center, stealing second base, combined with an error, placed a man on third for Middlebury in the first. but he was out trying to steal home. Three hits were made in the second, but the blue and white was unable to get a man around. In the sixth Robinson made a clout to center field, reaching third on MacLaughlin's two-bagger, but the next two men were easy outs.

Both teams played excellent base ball and the game was most interesting from start to finish. The score is as follows:

Where We Stand.

Each year we graduate a class that has about half the members that it had when it entered. Part of this decrease is due to poor preparation and in some cases to inability, but many failures are due almost entirely to conditions that accompany the first few months at Middlebury. To begin with the men find upon their arrival about a score of men demanding their time to attend this or that function, to ride here, to eat there. This continues for about a week. Then, this is more or less a part of the past, we have the sophomore horse play. Night after night the men are kept in a state of excitement. Accompanying this comes the freshman banquet. Certain members of the class are kept chasing about the country. Everyone is kept from the proper attention to college work. Combined with all this is the football season for many of the freshmen. This all takes place during the early months of the college year, at the very time when a man should be doing his hardest work. The new conditions are always a handicap. Added to this is the difficulty of varied preparation. Just when the faculty is giving the men a chance to find themselves they are unable to take advantage, and when the work is at its hardest a number find that they are just too late. Every year we are losing men for these reasons and every year the college allows the same process to go on. THE CAMPUS wishes to support the following: A postponed rushing day; a postponement of all horse play; new regulations governing freshman banquets that will end the present exorbitant expense, and that will mean less sacrifice on the part of the freshmen and no freshmen on the varsity football team.

Hurrah for Norwich!

One always admires a man with the true spirit of a sportsman, and it isn't because "every woman loves a uniform" either. But it is rather satisfying to see a defeated team, whether in a debate or in football, go up to their opponents and congratulate them as though they really meant it. Hence we say, "Three cheers for the Norwich debaters".

Freshmen Nuisance Again.

THE CAMPUS criticises the men of the college who participated in painting 1916 on the cupula of the gymnasium. It is very evident that some of the members of that class lack good sense and have a disregard for the beauty of our campus and the expense of repainting the cupula. The men of the freshmen class who possess the true Middlebury spirit, who are interested in devising ways of aiding college work rather than destroying property, should demand that the ignorant portion of the class conform to proper standards. The rest of the student body desires that the freshmen see that such things as the above be stopped by the members of the class, but if the nuisance continues the upper classmen will adopt such means as they deem necessary. Vandalism on the hill has been relegated to the past.

Congratulations.

Capt. J. B. Douglas of the United States Army, after inspection of the signal corps of Norwich University issued the following statement: "I believe this company is by far the best company of signal corps in the entire organized militia in the United States, and I do not believe it can be excelled in its type of company by any troops in the regular service. The discipline is excellent, and in my inspection of these troops it is hard to realize that I am not inspecting a company in the regular army. For alertness and attention. and general efficiency they cannot be excelled by any organization regardless of what branch of the service may be considered."

"It is unfortunate that some provision is not made by the national government to provide more liberally for organizations of this character.

Wretched Training.

THE CAMPUS desires to call attention to the increased interest in track athletics that has occurred this year. Another point of equal importance is the absolute necessity of better training. Our men in the Vermont meet were the equals of the U. V. M. men, but all of them were poorly trained and some prided themselves on no training at all. It makes no difierence what a man can do in any sport without training. If he persists in not taking the best care of himself he deserves the censure of the student body. Much of the responsibility for the present carelessness in this respeet is due to the captains of the past. Use THE CAMPUS to demand a change.

Profit and Loss.

The base ball management urgently requests the support of the student body at the Springfield-Training School game on Friday, May 23. The Rochester game resulted in a deficit of over thirty-eight dollars. The certain expense for the Y. M. C. A. College game is $85.50. Umpire O'Brien of Burlington will be on hand. Here's hoping faculty, women, and men are on hand. Remember that all we make on baseball this spring will be used to pay the association debt.

Corrections Needed.

Everyone who has read the constitution as recently printed has noticed the omissions that have been made, especially with reference to the regulations regarding the award of track letters. Let's have the corrections made as soon as possible.

THE ORIGINAL NON-LEAKABLE
FOUNTAIN PEN

Always ready to write at the first stroke without shaking.

That is a vital point which is lacking in ordinary fountain pens. You can readily understand how this is made possible in a Moore when we explain that the pen when not in use lies submerged in ink which keeps it moist and prepared for instant writing, positively eliminating the necessity of shaking.

But that is not all of its strong features. The Moore can be carried in any position without the least fear of leaking. Has a large ink capacity. Always writes freely and evenly, and is easily filled.

Every Moore Non-Leakable Fountain Pen carries with it the most unconditional guarantee.

The cussed damozel cut loose
About half-past eleven,
Prepared to do as wild a deed
As any under heaven.
Oil-soaked rags were in her hands,
And the bombs in her grip were seven.

She cried, "We'll blow this mansion up
Where Lloyd and George do dwell!"
"Wow!" cried her fellow-suffs whose names
Were sweet as caramel,
Millicent, Pansy, Rosalys,
Phyllis and Christabel.
